"CHILDREN, COME TO PRAYER."

"O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before our Maker."

Come to the place of prayer!
Parents and children, come and kneel before Your God, and with united hearts adore Him whose alone your life and being are.

Come to the place of prayer!
Ye band of loving hearts; O come and raise, With one consent, the grateful song of praise, To him who blessed you with a lot so fair!

Come in the morning hour!
Who hath raised you from the dream of night? Whose hand hath poured around the cheering light? Come and adore that kind and heavenly power!

Come at the close of day!
Ere wearied nature sinks gentle in rest; Come, and let your sins be here confessed; Come, and for his protecting mercy pray.

Has sorrow's withering blight
Your dearest hopes, in desolation laid, And the once cheerful home in gloom arrayed? Yet pray, for He can turn the gloom to light.

Has sickness entered in
Your peaceful mansion? then let prayer ascend On wings of faith, to that all-gracious Friend, Who came to heal the bitter pains of sin.

Come to the place of prayer!
At morn, at night—in gladness or in grief— Surround the throne of grace; there seek relief, Or pay your free and grateful homage there.

So in the world above,
Parents and children may meet at last, When this your weary pilgrimage is past, To mingle their joyful notes of love.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

BY JOHN NEAL.

"Ah! is that you?—how do you feel?—how's the weather?"

"Ugh! ugh! a damp, cold day, my love—ugh!"

"A what!" stopping on her way toward him, with outstretched arms, and a look of sorrowful astonishment.

"Well, what's the matter now?"

"Oh, Charles!" laying her little, soft, plump hand upon his arm, with a sweet smile, and shaking her loose hair and prettily turned head at him so piteously—"Oh, Charles! what did you promise me?"

"Promise you!—when?—where?"

"When we were married, Charles."

"Upon my word, I've forgotten, what was it?"

"Oh, Charles!" and her large, dreaming eyes filled with tears, and she turned away from the offered kiss.

"What was it Jenny?" kicking off his boots and fumbling about for his slippers, "what was it I promised you at the time of our marriage? Really now, what was it Jenny?—to love, honor and obey?"

This was too much "much to much," and the young wife hid her face in her perfumed handkerchief and wept aloud.

Whereupon her dutiful and loving husband fetched a long breath, flung off his coat, slipped into a dressing gown, and went softly up to her and sat down upon the sofa, and tried to pull her into his lap.

But she only wept the louder, turning away her sweet lips, and refusing to be comforted; and when he would have put his arms around her waist, or toyed with her little hand, as of yore, instead of jumping up with a cry of transport, as in duty bound, or dropping a low courtesy, or whispering thank ye, sir, she only pouted, and flung away from him and went and buried herself in the farthest corner of the furthest couch in the room, pulling a shawl over her face and drawing herself up and turning her back to him, as much as to say—Now for it! Ph see.

Well, thought her husband—there must be something to pay, and I'll give a trifle to know what. "Jenny—Jenny, dear?" At this moment, the bell rang, and before

Jenny could right herself or get up a decent excuse for flushed cheeks, red eyes and a rumpled dress, the door opened slowly, and in walked very slowly, no less a personage than uncle Joe, a bachelor uncle stout and free spoken—stately and tasty—upon whom all the hopes of the family were fixed.

"Halloo! forty forty—what's in the wind now?" sang out uncle Joe, as he saw the lady of the house hurrying out at one door, while he entered, at the other. "Ain't ye ashamed of yourselves!—here Charles, here, you great lubber, you! Haven't ye been married long enough to behave like a man, hey? tut, tut, tut! Come here Jenny!—What are you afraid of? Oh, ho, I see, crying, hey? Well, well, that's some comfort. Had enough of billing and cooing, hey?"

"Take a chair, uncle."
"Take a chair, uncle," to be sure I will. Just thought of it—pretty time o' day. What the plague have you been quarrelling about?"

"Quarrelling, uncle?"
"Quarrelling, yes to be sure, quarrelling! pulling hair. Can't I see? Don't I know? Haven't you been married well on to a twelve month, hey?" setting down his huge knotted cane, as if he meant to force it through the floor, and pulling out a large gold snuff box from his broad-flapped waist coat pocket, and scattering the rappee right and left over the rich carpet, as he continued, "Come, come, now, none o' that if you please. Here, you Jenny stand up there, and take you fingers out of you mouth; and you, you great booby! what are you grinning at! Look me in the face now, both of you—what in the plague were you quarrelling about?"

No answer.
Uncle Joe fetched a stamp that shook the whole house.

"What I ashamed to tell, hey?" Pretty fellow for a husband, ain't you?"

Here Charles looked at Jenny.

"And you, you jade—pretty fellow for a wife, ain't you?"

"That such children should dare to get married! Upon my life I wouldn't trust either of you with a rag baby."

Here both looked at Uncle Joe, and after two or three wry faces, all three burst out a laughing together.

And then the glorious old fellow, who was a bit of a humorist in his way, and very fond of mischief, giving Jenny a pinch, and Charles a wink, which brought the color into his cheeks, and made him look like a simpleton, flung himself back into an old fashioned arm chair and upsetting a fancy table with a lamp on it that was never lighted, and a quantity of old china, that was of no earthly use, fell a laughing with all his might, and kept on, and on—as if he would never stop, till the chair creaked and trembled in every point, and the poor wife looked at her husband in dismay, expecting every moment to see his dear old, good-for-nothing uncle Joe pitching head-foremost among the glittering fragments of her china, or sprawling at his whole length upon the floor.

CRUEL SWISS CUSTOM.—I stood, then, (says a late traveller) by the side, to be exact, of one of twenty women of the mountains, all occupied in tearing the skin off the living frogs, that the purchasers might fry them alive. They had each a bag at hand that might have contained two bushels of frogs, and ever and anon, as the purchasers stood and held their plates to receive them and were occupied in keeping them from crawling away, the vender thrust her hand into the bag and took out one at a time, and after cutting off the point of the nose, by a dexterous twitch, left the animal in an instant entirely without his skin, and in this manner, plates after plates were filled with the flayed living creatures, ready to be placed over the red hot coals, that Christians, might the better relish their hateful meal.

FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1846.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

The following letter was furnished us this morning, by a friend, who said he would not vouch for the truth of it, but such was the current report in New York when the boat left. It was received by Magnetic Telegraph in New York, too late for the evening papers. We give it just as we received it.

CAMP TAYLOR, opposite Matamoras, }
Friday, May 15, 1846.

I have to inform you, that our army was attacked yesterday by 15,000 Mexicans. After an action of one hour and fifty-five minutes, we put them to flight, killing 1100 Mexicans, and taking 400 prisoners, among whom, is the celebrated Arista and Ampudia. Our loss—15 killed, and 94 wounded.

Yours, in haste,
Z. TAYLOR.

The volunteers called into immediate service by the Government, number 17,153. Orders have been issued for the enrollment of 28 full regiments of infantry, 777 men each, and seven half regiments, 390 men each; total 24,336, to be in readiness to march at 24 hours' notice. The whole number for enrollment is 51,642,—foot 37,704; horse, 3,945. If to these be added the regular force as established by law—about 8,100 men, with the two regiments of mounted rifle-men, 789 each, authorized by Congress, and two regiments of mounted rifle-men from Louisiana, called for by General Taylor, for immediate service, we have an aggregate force of 52,905 men now under arms.

THE CAMPAIGN IN MEXICO.—The plan of operations in Mexico, it is said, has been agreed upon in council, which is to invade Mexico with 50,000 men, in four columns, under Scott, Wool, Taylor and Worth, entering Mexico from various points, and concentrating at the capitol; while the naval forces at Vera Cruz are to attack the castle, and all the other ports are to be blockaded. We are not told, however, whether, when Mexico is conquered, she is to be annexed to the Union, or a peace dictated, and a suitable government for Mexico established.

THE COLUMBIAN MAGAZINE for June, has been on our table for several days. It maintains its high character among the monthlies, and is a gem of literary morsels. Among its contributors are Mrs. Childs, Mrs. Osgood, Fanny Forrester, Miss Sedgwick, H. T. Tuckerman, &c. &c. The literary papers are of an exceedingly interesting nature, and well worth the price charged. It is embellished with two beautiful steel engravings, which very much enhance its value.

It is said that the Government intend purchasing a number of small vessels, to run close in shore in the Gulf, after privateers.

The steamer Oregon has resumed her trips on the Stonington route, and is said to be as good as new.

Ephraim Haley, Gideon Manchester, Frederick Fielder, and Thomas Bangs, have been bound over, in Providence, before Charles Hart, Esq., for an attempt to commit a revolt on board the bark John Brouwer, bound from Providence to Apalachicola. They will take their trial before the U. S. Circuit Court, Judge Woodbury, in this town, the 15th of June.

Rufus Waterman and Charles Hart, have been appointed and commissioned Assistants of the Adjutant General. Benj. W. Comstock has been appointed and commissioned Assistant Quarter-master General. The rank of these officers is that of Captain.

WEALTH OF MEXICAN CHURCHES.—The wealth of the Mexican Churches is almost incalculable. The Cathedral itself which occupies the site of the idol temple of Montezuma could furnish gold enough to support a powerful army. The altar itself is made of pure silver ornamented with images, these last, and the railing, are constructed of a compound of gold, silver and copper—more valuable than silver. An offer was made recently to take this balustrade, and replace it with another of the same size and workmanship of pure silver and to give a million of dollars besides! Besides this, the church possesses immense endowments in gold and silver vases, waiters, candlesticks, precious stones, &c., the most valuable of which are stored away in chests and closets. Mexico is said to be the only country in which the church property remains in its untouched retirety; and the property which the church holds in mortmain is estimated at fifty millions.

WADY THOMPSON, our late Minister to Mexico, says that there is enough of the precious metals in the different churches of Mexico, to relieve, sensibly, the pressure upon the currency of the world, which has resulted from the diminished production of the mines, and the increased quantity which has been appropriated to purposes of luxury, and to pay the cost of much more tasteful decorations in architecture and statuary, made of mahogany and marble.

Money is getting scarce in Baltimore. A large amount of good paper was negotiated there by capitalists, last week, at 1 to 2 per cent. per month.

The Banks have ceased discounting, in nearly every city and town, and the result must be, that heavy failures will ensue, among business men.

THE GREATEST TAUTOG ON RECORD was taken a few days ago, by Samuel Brown, at Fuller's rocks. It weighed fifteen pounds. —Providence Journal.

The Journal is entirely behind the age in the Tautog matter. We have a paper before us, published a short time ago, giving an account of a tautog taken here, which weighed 18 3-4 pounds; and a friend at our elbow, who is experienced in such matters, informs us that a noble tautog, weighing twenty-one pounds and two ounces, was taken in our waters, a short time ago. This beats Providence, altogether.

The New York Mirror says that 2500 stands of muskets, with bayonets, belts, cartridge boxes, and a large quantity of fixed ammunition, including grape and canister, were taken from the Arsenal in that city Wednesday, and shipped for the South, for the army in Texas.

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.—The Nuevo Orleans Picayune of the 19th inst., contains intelligence from Vera Cruz to the 7th inst. It was received by the bark Mandarin.

The movement of the American squadron, when getting under way for the Rio Grande, on the 4th inst., threw Vera Cruz into a state of the greatest excitement. It was supposed that the movement was preparatory to an attack on the town, and the guns in the castle of San Juan D'Ulla were, therefore immediately manned, and the matches lighted ready for actual hostilities.

The commission of Gen. Almonte, as Minister to England and France, has been revoked, and Senor Valdivieso, appointed in his place. This, taken in connection with the arrest of Almonte's Secretary, who had returned to Mexico, indicate that Santa Anna and Almonte were making arrangements to overthrow Gen. Paredes. The probability is, therefore, that if the latter takes command of the troops on the Rio Grande, Santa Anna will step in and take possession of the government in the city of Mexico. It is said that Vera Cruz is in a proper state to receive him. We shall see, however.

The vomito has made its appearance, and the weather was extremely hot.

The Arch-Bishop of Mexico died on the 2nd instant.

Advices had been received at Tampico, stating that Col. Cross had been taken prisoner by an armed body of rancheros, and hanged to a tree.

[From the N. O. Picayune May 10.]

The bark Mandarin, Capt. Colley, arrived yesterday morning from Vera Cruz, having sailed thence on the 7th inst.—three days later than our previous intelligence.

When the squadron sailed, on the 4th inst., the guns of the castle were all manned and matches lighted, ready to fire in case the squadron made any demonstration towards it. It was generally believed that as soon as hostilities commenced on the frontier, Com. Connor would attack the town and castle.

The Mexican government has revoked the commission of Gen. Almonte, as minister to France, in consequence of having found upon his Secretary, Sr. Lerdo, papers which compromise Gen. Almonte. Sr. Valdivieso, the present minister to Spain, is entrusted with the French mission.

A letter was received at Vera Cruz from Tampico on the 7th inst., which announced the death of Col. Cross of our army. The circumstance of his cruel fate are detailed. "He was taken by an armed party of Rancheros, and hung him immediately to a tree." So says the letter from Tampico.

In the official journal we find the document by which the manifesto of Gen. Paredes of the 23d ult., was accompanied, and upon which it was found. They consist of the Mexican reports of events occurring on the Rio Grande down to the 14th of April, with the correspondence between Gens. Ampudia and Taylor.

The Mexicans remote from the seat of war were universally confident of victory upon the Rio Grande. They founded their hopes purely upon their numerical superiority. They set down the number of their own troops, at 10,000 at the least, and that of Gen. Taylor's at less than 3000.

Correspondence N. Y. Express

WASHINGTON, May 26.

General Taylor has received the nomination of Bravet Major General of the Army. The Senate will confirm the nomination, and Major General Scott will probably not take command of the Army. To do so, it is thought, would be unjust to the meritorious officer now in command.

P. S.—Gen. Taylor has been confirmed.

SMALL POTATOES.—An old bachelor having been laughed at by a party of pretty girls, told them they were small potatoes. "We may be small potatoes," replied one of them, "but we are sweet ones."

WASHINGTON, May 26, 1846.

The PRIVATERS BILL introduced into the Senate, to-day, by Mr. Benton, provides, that if any persons shall, contrary to the provisions of any subsisting treaty between the United States and any foreign nation, apply for or take a commission or letters of marque for arming any ship or ships, to act, as privateers against the United States, or against the citizens or people thereof, from any prince or state, with which the U. States shall be at war, the offender shall be liable to punishment, as a Pirate. By the act they are declared to be guilty of Piracy, and upon conviction of the crime charged, in any Circuit Court of the U. S., they are to be punished with death. The Circuit Court, by law, is empowered with authority to try and determine all such cases. This is an important bill, and will probably become a law.

THE WAR SPIRIT IN TEXAS.—The Journal of Commerce publishes a letter dated city of Austin, May 3d, which says:

Austin is in a perfect blaze, and has been since the arrival of the express from Gen. Taylor to Gov. Henderson, calling upon the latter for 40 companies for the invasion of Mexico.

It is impossible almost to keep a quorum in either House. Thirty seven of the forty captains have already been appointed by the Governor, or at least have been authorized to raise companies, and are ready on the way, or will be as soon as they get the document in their hands.

The Governor's house is thronged every hour of day and night, and the excitement with every body is astonishing beyond the belief of those not present. Campaign horses have risen 50 per cent. So with rifles and pistols. Several of the members of the Legislature have started for the Rio Grande.

Gen. Burleson, Gen. Lamar, and many other distinguished officers and citizens, will go, and can't be kept back.

DIGNITY.—Some men are dignified—very. But what is dignity? It is not to feel yourself superior to a neighbor and seldom condescend to speak to him.

It is not to wear a sober face, and think it betrays a weak mind to laugh.

True dignity consists in treating all men with respect; in receiving and returning favor—no matter from who received, or to whom returned—the rich and accomplished—the poor and illiterate.

We love real dignity, wherever we find it. Generally it is found where we least expect it, and it is often banished from those whose actions it ought to govern.

POVERTY.—It was Washington Irving we believe who observed that when we are willing to appear poor, we have taken from poverty its sharpest sting.

DIED.

On Sunday last, George Augustus, infant son of Capt. Augustus N. Littlefield, aged 11 months and 9 days.

On Wednesday last, at the residence of Capt. Augustus N. Littlefield, after a protracted illness, which she bore with pious resignation, Mrs. Betsey Lemont, widow of the late Capt. James W. Lemont, of Bath, Maine, aged 59 years.
